Reach out virtually
A smartphone or computer can be a lifeline for social connection. Call, text, or video chat with friends and family. Maybe you could host a virtual family gathering or happy hour with friends using an app like FaceTime, WhatsApp, or Zoom. You could also explore apps that let you play games with others. Games can be a fun way to connect with friends. And they’re also a good way to relieve stress.

Take care of your health
When you’re stuck at home, it may be easy to spend a lot of time sleeping, snacking, or watching TV. You’ll probably feel better if you try to stay on a normal routine. So, try to get up and go to bed at your usual times. And remember to eat healthy foods and be active.

Remember that you’re doing the right thing
Staying home may be boring and lonely. It’s especially hard for people who thrive on social connection. But you can feel good about what you’re doing. Staying home helps you protect yourself, your neighbors, and those you care about.

Before Going to the Grocery Store During Coronavirus Outbreak

Need to run errands? Experts say planning and handwashing are important

by Sarah Elizabeth Adler, AARP

Updated April 22 2020

Whether you are grocery shopping for yourself or helping friends and family in need, here's what experts say about staying safe while going in and out of stores.

"Exhausting all other options is really important here," says Ben Chapman, a food safety specialist and professor at North Carolina State University. Chapman urges older adults and those at higher risk of complications from COVID-19 to take advantage of alternatives to in-person shopping trips, like asking friends or family to run errands, using a grocery delivery service, or opting for curbside pickup.

Some major pharmacy chains have waived fees for in-home delivery services, and a growing number of mutual aid organizations, among them AARP Community Connections, pair those in need with volunteers who can deliver groceries and other supplies.

CDC guidelines for grocery shoppers:

• Only shop in person when you absolutely need to.
• Avoid shopping if you are sick.
• Stay at least 6 feet away from others.
• Cover your mouth and nose with a cloth face covering.
• Shop during off-peak hours or during special hours for high-risk people (65 or older, and those with serious underlying medical conditions).
• Disinfect shopping cart with wipes if available.
• Don’t touch your eyes, nose or mouth.
• Use touchless payment if available.
• Use hand sanitizer right after paying with cash or touching a keypad.
• Use hand sanitizer after leaving store, then wash hands with soap and water for at least 20 seconds at home.
